CANTOR
Fitzgerald

CFA Society Western Region Distinguished
Speaker Series

Private infrastructure is expected to overtake real estate as the largest real asset class by 2026.¹

Join us to learn about infrastructure's potential investment benefits, three global megatrends expected to shape our future markets, and Cantor Fitzgerald Sustainable Infrastructure Fund, a continuously offered, closed-end interval fund focused primarily on private infrastructure.

WHY INFRASTRUCTURE?

GLOBAL OPPORTUNITY Infrastructure improves living standards and supports economic development. Global growth dynamics continue to drive public and private investment in infrastructure pointing to opportunities in areas such as the development and modernization of roads, power networks, water systems, and telecommunication networks.

INCREASING DEMAND The fundamental drivers of infrastructure investment are strong – population growth, climate change, energy transition, urbanization, and digital connectivity. It is estimated that trillions of dollars of investment will be required to meet the world's infrastructure requirements over the coming decades.²

ATTRACTIVE HISTORICAL RETURNS Infrastructure has historically delivered attractive total returns, a high level of current income, and portfolio diversification benefits due to having a low correlation to traditional securities.³
